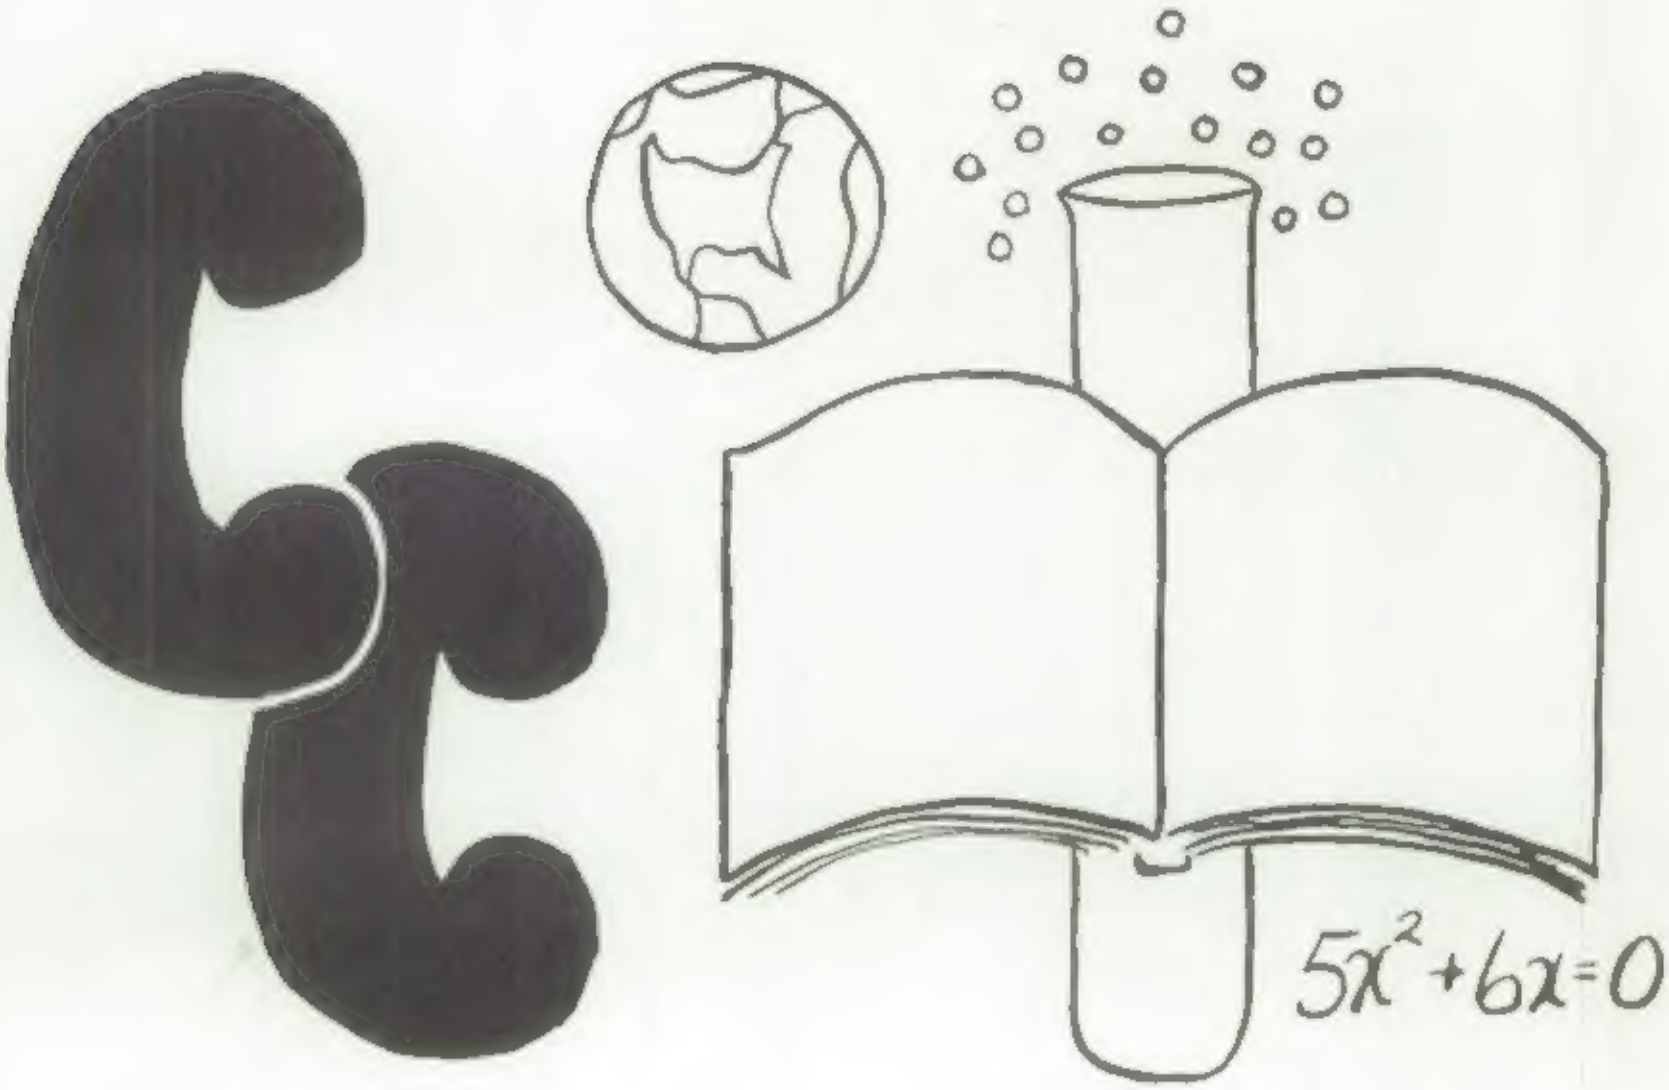
ACADEMICS



ADMINISTRATION & STAFF

During the second complete year of Mr. Crawford's administration, the refinement and completion of goals and objectives were met. Each staff member as well as the entire student body knew exactly what was expected of them. Academic and program activities were implemented and were achieved. "We take our job seriously here. The development of the total student is our primary objective and it takes the cooperation of everyone involved to make the school program work and work well," Mr. Crawford explained.

A FOND FAREWELL

What can we say to those who have worked so well for so many years? Words may be what was needed and sorely lacking at times of trial and effort. Just to say thank you even though we know that thank you is not enough. Just to say may God bless you and keep you so that your retirement is as full and fulfilling as your time spent in your former profession. In between our yesterday and today we add consider the personal make-up of each of you that enabled you to compete per se. To Mr. Ferrante, Miss Anna Katz and Mr. Joseph Capone we say what we have given to those we have worked with will be passed on for years to come. It will provide the fundamental difference between success and failure. We will always remember each of you and never never forget you.

A HELPFUL HAND . . .

Academic selections, career choices, reference material, and proper health tips all tend to increase a student's chance of being successful. Providing services which will effect every student who passes through their doors is a very important task. A task that our support staff has taken on willingly. Each of them realize that they are charged with trying to improve and maintain the quality of school life at Westinghouse High School. Each of them are dedicated to seeing that our students have an equal chance of obtaining their goals in life

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

What does a teacher of English and Reading try to accomplish? One may begin be stating that their job is an awesome task They must teach and reinforce skills relating to speaking, writing and reading. Each student has the oppportunity of mastering this subject well enough to express his/her thoughts in verbal or in written form. With the direction of Dr. Gloria Spencer, this fine core of professionals ensure objectives are taught according to high standards Students are also given stimulating activities to complete classroom assignments

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

Discovering and learning about our past and how it has and will effect us is an important goal for students taking the various courses of study in the History Department. Other important areas of concern are government, politics, economics laws and their interpretations and how different cultures have played a role in the developement of various nations. The list goes on, the topics are many and it takes a core of historians willing and able to take on the task of presenting the story of men and women in a sequential, comprehensive, and interesting manner

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Problem solving, the answers to questions, investigating and discovering new ideas and concepts. These and much more are a part of the Science Department at Westinghouse. Students are given the chance to explore several areas through the watchful and experienced eyes of our science teachers. It is the hope of each science teacher that all students will gain a better understanding of the world around them as a result of taking science classes at Westinghouse.

MATH DEPARTMENT

From basic math to abstract mathematical computation, that is what the teachers in the Math Department work with students at Westinghouse. Their primary goal is to try and present instructional objectives in a manner that will bring about the greatest benefit for each student. This process some times takes a great deal of time and effort, but the outcome is rewarding for the students as well as for the teachers. Understanding math concepts is good for a start, however application of the concepts taught are indeed a terminal goal for everyone involved in our math programs.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

There are three programs at Westinghouse that are designated to deal with students who have learning problems

First, is the Department for Exceptional Children. Their job is to increase student academic performance in English, math, reading, social studies, and science. Each teacher is dedicated to providing instruction that meets each students individual needs

Second, is the Title I Reading program. Their task is to raise student reading levels based upon student need. Each teacher has a wealth of material, including computers, to assist them

Last, is In-School Suspension. This program is designed to deal with students, who for what ever reason, have problems following school rules and regulations. It is a good alternative to sending students home. There each student can spend time away from the school population and complete regular classroom assignments

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Maintaining an environment that is conducive for building strong, healthy and productive minds is always in effect in this department. Each teacher works closely with their students, no matter what his/her skill level. These teachers believe that to promote physical growth it is incumbent upon them to develop positive attitudes in students. Because, if the student thinks well of himself, then the development of other areas will be easier to bring about.

So you think you have talent. Or maybe you're not so sure. Talented or not so talented, it does not matter to the teachers in this department. They are of the opinion that skills no matter how slight can be improved by hard work and the willingness to do better. Each student is given the chance to explore and discover his/her skill level. OCCUPATIONAL VOCATIONAL TRAINING

This department prepares students for the world of work in the following areas: Cosmetology, Child Care, Food Science, Home Economics, and Pre Vocational Cosmetology and Personal Services. It is believed that course work in these fields enable students to make better consumer and career choices. Also, it provides students with specific skills and experience to prepare them for entry level employment. Last, students develop better human relationship skills which enhance family living.

ON THE LINE WITH THE BULLDOGS

The 1986 Varsity Football squad, coached by George Webb, was the kind of team any coach would envy. With 4 wins, 4 losses, overall and 4 wins and 2 losses city wide, they managed a 4 place among the city league.

Leroy Dillard kept the team in top physical condition. The Bulldogs had strength and speed, along with determination, sportsmanship and team spirit. Another contribution was the team numbers and agility to play many positions. This year's team captains, Darnell Rankins and William Moore, played offense as well as defense. Darnell and William also were selected to the all city team

Looking forward to next year, Coach Webb has as many or more talented athletes. Next year's captain is Terrence Wiggins. He will have help from all city Ronald Porter, who led the team with 800+ yards. None the less, all bulldogs are commended on their fine efforts and contributions

JUNIOR VARSITY ON THE RISE

This Junior Varsity team was nothing short of miraculous Coached by Lance Carter, the team put the fear into rivals as they dominated the field during the game. J.V., 4 wins, 0 losses overall in the city league. This year's captain Troy Hill kept morale boosted. Coach Carter explained "They played as a team and play execution was really good. Ego's and bad attitudes were left in the locker room. The team's shining moment was beating Perry by a margin of 24 points. J.V. is really looking good but as some players begin to play varsity we can see the tradition of these players continue

BULLDOG BASKETBALL

The Boys Varsity Basketball was no different than last year. The Bulldogs had another losing season with 9 wins and 12 losses overall and 3 wins and 7 losses in the city league.

This years most valuable player was Jamie Butler. Jamie was All-City and participated in the 1986 Roundball Classic game. Jamie has a good season and is looking ahead to collegiate basketball.

This season was not without its thrills and worst moments. The biggest thrill came at Allderdice when the Bulldogs won for the 1st time in six years. The worst moment was losing a double overtime game to Brashear.

Every year can't yield a championship, but having a lot of the players returning next year and even better people participating, the Bulldogs will be even better.

TIME OUT

It was a slow year for the Boys Junior Varsity Basketball team with only 5 wins and 7 losses overall and 2 wins and 3 losses in the city league.

This years most valuable players were Shawn Walters and Rodney Dennard. Coach Scott said, "They were in good physical shape and they knew how to hustle. The teams biggest thrill was going to McDonald's to eat after the away games and the worst moments were losing in last quarters and in overtime play."

The starting line up consisted of Rodney Dennard, Bernard Mathis, Emile Williams, Lateef Walters, and Shawn Walters

Perhaps next year there won't be as many losses and the team will be able to rule the court!

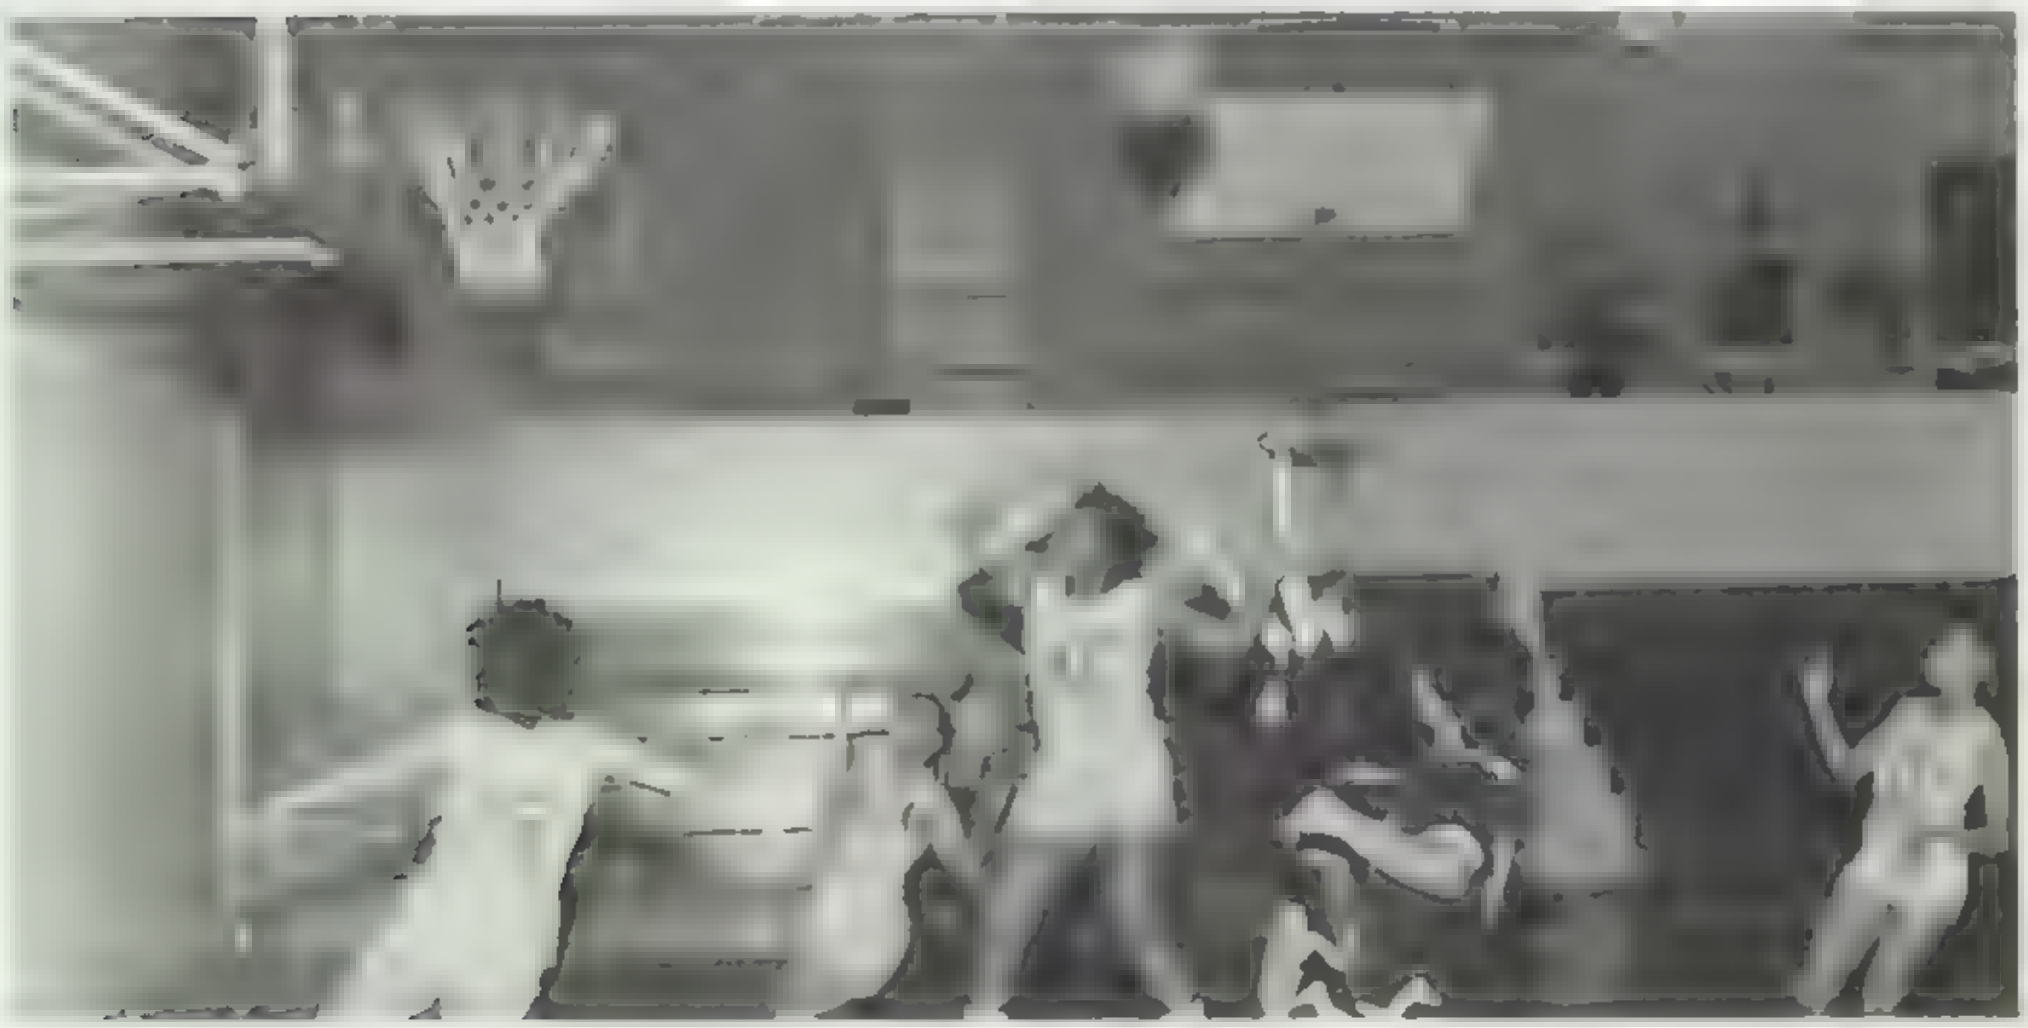
LADY BULLDOGS RETREAT!

The 1986 Girls' Varsity Basketball team found themselves with a losing season after 3 years of championship teams Coach Webb had the misfortune of starting with only 3 returning players. With a disappointing season of 4 wins and 10 losses, the Lady Bulldogs no longer dominated their opponents

Kymberle Gillcrease and Laura Hux were the teams captains along with being the games Most Valuable Players. Both posed the quickness, speed, jumping and shooting capabilities but could not carry the team to victory alone

Next years captains are not known to Coach Webb. He has plenty of good candidates such as Tawanda Carter and Michelle Lockett. The Lady Bulldogs must return to that dominating team that they once were and going to be



Laura Hux and Kym Gillcrease wait defensely for the outcome of Michelle Lockett shot

J.V. LADY BULLDOGS

The J.V. Lady Bulldogs did not play any better than varsity this year. The Lady Bulldogs lost to teams they had literally destroyed in recent years and after the first two or three losses they couldn't regain their confidence or winning desires. Winning only 1 and losing 9 the team did not improve its performance further into the season.

Captains Sonja Parker and Michelle Lockett played to their fullest potential but couldn't keep up with the scoring of their opponents. Soon key players would find injury as another key factor in the teams disappointing season.

With most all the players returning next year, we look forward to a better season. Coach Carter does not have to rebuild his team just refine its already magnificent athletic abilities.

The 1986 Boys Track Team, Coached by George Webb, placed 4th in the city league. This could have been first place with the talent and speed the team had, but due to lack of numbers the team could not hold their own

The team led by captains Cornell Brown and Jason Hall couldn't compete with competitors due to the lack of team members. Jason Hall, however, did win the 200m dash in a near record time of 22.4. Jason also was named the teams Most Valuable Player.

Since the majority of the seniors are leaving Coach Webb must replace the talented seniors leaving and also increase the numbers This will not be difficult and with the captain Les Alston the team should do what is expected

Leading the Lady Bulldogs were Senior Muriel Thompkins and Junior Rhonda Smith.

"The team was much smaller than before and had to work much harder," said Coach Robert Burley. Good speed in the sprinting events attributed to the teams' overall record

The year's most valuable player was Rhonda Smith. She was the most valuable player because of her speed and dedication to the sport. The 400m relay team: Rhonda Smith, Muriel Thompkins, Lynette Moore, Carol Gaskins, and Lisa Hairston, qualified for the state Championship at Shippenburgh. Lisa Hairston qualified for the 100m dash

Almost everyone will be returning next year for another season. All of this year's team should be commended for their hard work

BATTER UP!

The 1986 Boys' Varsity Baseball team Coached by Fred Malins and Jesse Bolden was one of different strengths and talent.

With only 4 wins and 8 losses, our Bulldog's spirit were never dampened. Endurance, physical and mental, along with dedication, agility, and sportsmanship helped to make the year a little less hardening.

Using these same ingredients and strategies for next year, Coach Malins finds himself with a new team at the departure of 6 seniors. Only the remainder will help assist Coach Malins through next season.

TAKING IT TO THE FENCE!!

The 1986 season was very unsuccessful. The season started with bad luck and ended with even worse luck. The Lady Bull dogs were in Division 1 this year which contributed to their loses.

The Lady Bulldogs were one of the youngest Westinghouse has ever had. The team only had four players returning from last year: Pitcher, Dawn Brown; 2nd base, Sharon Jordan, Leftfield, Leslie Austin; 1st base, Kelly Baxter.

The Lady Bulldogs were led by captain Dawn Brown. Powerful hitting and fast pitching was a trademark of Dawn.

The Lady Bulldogs finished the season with a record of 1 win and 11 losses. The win came over an exhibition game with Schenley High. The losses came at the hands of Langley, Brashear, Peabody, Carrick, and Oliver High.

Unlike the 1985 team, this team didn't make it to the city championship, but kept good team spirit through all of the games. Next year there will be all but 2 people returning to carry the load for the Lady Bulldogs.

ACE TENNIS TALENT

The 1986 Girls' and Boys' Varsity Tennis teams did not do very well due to new inexperienced players. There were only three returning players to both teams, Captain Delrita Mosby, Nicole Kolling, and Captain Pete Dickson.

The game of tennis requires a person to be very dedicated and also have a good eye. Everyone on the team seemed to be the kind of player Coach Braxton and Dalcanton would like to have play for Westinghouse's Tennis teams. The boys or girls did not win a game, but kept up good spirit.

Coach David Dalcanton, Captain Pete Dickson, Wayne Epps, David Parrish, David Saunders

SPIKING AND BLOCKING

Powerful volleyball is not a game for the faint of heart. High speed serves come from nowhere, players jockey for position at the net and the action is fast. The 1986 Girls' and Boy's Varsity Volleyball Team handled the action like seasoned amateurs.

The years captains were LeRoy Bell and Gregory King. Gregory also had the distinct honor of being this year's most valuable player.

Experience will be the best teacher for the 1987 team since 12 seniors, boys and girls, will be leaving. Many fine underclassmen will be returning with their spiking and blocking talents.

GOING THE DISTANCE

Few people have the desire or the stamina to become a cross country runner. The standard course is 2.8 miles long, up hills and down, and the average time is around 16 minutes

Cross Country is a very personal sport because each runner has their own records to beat and their own goals to achieve. The Bulldogs may not have the dynasty they once had, but the runners put aside their personal goals and "ran for Westinghouse"

This years team coached by Lynda Lewis is one of the most talented Westinghouse has ever produced. Led by Earl Richardson and Becky Scott, they finished 6th out of 11 schools. The captains were Dennis Boyce, Earl Richardson, and Robert Fields.

SANDTRAP AT THE HOUSE

This year the Westinghouse Co-ed Golf team, Coached by Robert Burley finished the season with 2 wins and 3 losses

Among those who led the team with the best scores were senior Louis Gilliam and sophomore Bernard Mathis. The team was also helped by Gladys Crews and Arlena Levy

Golf is an individual sport, but when played as a team, it is a team score. Everyone on the golf team participated so it was a combined effort

Next year the team should be better with three returning players and we are looking forward to a winning season

GROUPS & ORGANIZATIONS

MARCHING BAND

This year's marching band was a sight for everyone to see. It was under the new direction of Mr. Calvin Stemley. This year's band focused on applying dance steps to music. The members of the band were very successful at this new experience. Many of the dance routines were choreographed by Mia Jackson, Jau Johnson, Crystal Payne, and Rhonda Robinson. The Drum majors, Bennie Francis and William Clark, kicked off the band's performances at the football games with a high step ping routine

With the help of Rod Craighead and Wayne Epps as assistant band directors, the band's perfection in marching had succeeded. The performances throughout the city and out of state were extravagant. During one of the parades they performed in, they stole the show

We are proud of what our band has become We also wish that it will continue to grow and expand as it has done this year

MARCHING BAND

Performing at basketball games, as well as football games, is another good quality of the marching band. Not only do they show how well they can march indoors they show how they can strut inside as well. During half-time, the band really gets the crowd going with their routine. It gives the spectators a chance to let all their emotions get aroused before the second half of the game. Before you know it, the band is not only performing the latest songs, they are performing the latest dances as well. Next year we look forward to something new and exciting to come from this great marching band

CHEERLEADERS

Rooting the basketball and football teams on are what the cheerleaders do best. They encourage the fans as well as the teams to be the best that they can be. POMMERETTE SQUAD

Shaking their pom pons, moving to the beat, and giving it all they've got, are what makes the pommerettes a super addition to the marching band. Co-Captains, Lisa Moore and Missy Wakefield, combine their talents to help the other young women perform to the fullest extent. They work hard to make sure everyone is in step, and that they look good when performing for hundreds of people. The pommerettes work very hard to give a good performance. Their hard work at practices is shown by their performances. Let's acknowledge their hard work as they continue to execute their routines in the future.

CHOIR

Perfection! That is the only word that can describe the Westinghouse High School choir. Under the direction of Mrs. Linda Ross-Broadus, the choir has performed many outstanding concerts across the city and out of state. This year the choir performed in Florida There they were awarded a superior rating for another remarkable performance

As well as out of state, the choir has sung at many places in the city. One of these performances was singing the National Anthem before one of the Steeler Football games

The choir has made Westinghouse look very professional for many years, and so far, they are continuing to up hold their name as superb singers for the future

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

A very select group of students who must have maintained a 3.0 grade point average or better from the 9th through the 11th and/or 12th grade. This is a service group which selects its membership from recommendations from our administration and faculty members.

This year the society had its annual Christmas Basket Drive and again it was quite successful. They also held an induction ceremony to induct new members. A fairly large number of parents and students turned out to witness this unique ceremony. A night that the new members will not forget

OFFICE AIDES

The office aides assist all of the staff clerks in our building. They may help answer the telephones, complete paperwork, deliver messages, or locat material needed to complete a task

Each student must request to become an office aide. She/he must have a free period already placed in her/his schedule. She/he must be recommended by a faculty member in order to be assigned to this duty. This year's aides have certainly been very efficient and responsible in the various offices of our building

Rose Crawford, Debra Bratcher, Kimberly Johnson Laura Lax, Tia Williams

LIBRARY AIDES

These aides are also students who volunteer their services to the Librarian, Mrs. Davis. They also come to the library during a period that they do not have a scheduled class. During the time they are scheduled, they help students locate material, check out books, and send out delinquent notices to those students late returning books to the library As always these young people are very appreciated by Mrs. Davis and Ms Woods

PROJECT LEAD

The goals for this group are numerous. They are primarily concerned with developing leaders within our school for today and in the future. Mrs. Pipkin, sponsor, is dedicated to the task of providing her students with interesting experiences that will provide direction for the future. Project Lead students have implemented several activities within our school that promote awareness, pride and interest. We hope to see more positive activities from this group

STUDENT SECURITY

The members of student security have various responsibilities. They must patrol the halls to keep vandalism down, act as positive role models, and assist at open house, athletic events, field trips and picnics. They are indeed a positive force in our school. The requirements for becoming a member of this group are simple. You must have a 2.0 grade point average, not be a behavior problem, and willing to give and follow directions

F.H.A./HERO

The Future Homemakers of America (F.H.A.) is a group of select Home Economics and Food Service students. They are involved leadership training and competence in all areas of Home Economics and Food Service through competition and service. Ricky Ross and Tina Truitt were winners in several competitions held this year. Other members of this select group plan to enter and place in next year's competition

HOUSE LIGHTS UP!

One of the necessary commands you must follow when working for Mr Bolden, Stage Manager. There are numerous tasks to complete during an assembly, show, concert, or theatrical production. The stage crew must know where every prop is, how to adjust the stage lights, set up audio and visual equipment and if anything goes wrong be able to repair the problem. Only a few good students are needed to complete the various jobs of stage hand and Mr. Bolden has been ever diligent seeing that the job gets done

YEARBOOK STAFF

The theme for the 1986 Yearbook was Carefully Constructed". This year's staff worked hard to live up to this theme. Under the supervision of Mr Lance Carter, advisor, and Janet Hawkes, Editor-in-Chief, the staff worked up to their fullest potential to publish a unique yearbook

There were many goals that the staff wanted to reach. Some of these objectives were to add more color to the book, insert folio tabs, add division spreads, and improve copy. The staff was quite successful in their endeavors The yearbook turned out to be "Carefully Constructed" after all

AND THEN THERE WERE THREE

In the beginning, there was a total of almost thirty people on the yearbook staff. As time went on, the number of people began to drop tremendously. The work wasn't getting done. A new staff had to be found. Then there was nine members to the new edition

Mr. Carter felt that his new staff would be able to do almost anything he asked, but he was wrong. Soon he began to lose his new edition as well. Instead of the yearbook staff going out with a big bang, it went out with only three. Mr. Carter, Janet Hawkes, and Laura Hux worked long and hard to make sure the yearbook was a success

Student Council Member

WHO'S THE BOSS?

The back bone of our student body is our Student Council. This consists of all the home room presidents in the school. Their job is to provide leadership and direction for the student population. They also work closely with the administration and faculty in solving student problems around school activities

The Senior class of 86 had a long tough struggle this year. Since their fund raising activities started late, they were unable to lower their class dues. With the assistance of their class sponsors (Mr. Ferguson and Mrs. Lloyd) and the administration all of the senior activities held were successful

The responsibility is great for the junior class planning committee. They have to make sure that the problems faced by the class of 86 will not hamper their efforts for having a successful year. They have begun fund raising and planning senior events for next year. Mrs. Anderson and Mr. Carter have been on the job seeing that what the class of 87 wants, the class of 87 will get

SOPHOMORE & FRESHMEN PLANNING COMMITTEES

The goal for both committees is to plan social activities and fund raising for each class. Mr. Webb is the advisor for the sophomore class and has worked closely with the committee planning appropriate activities for the class of 88. Likewise, the advisor, Mrs. Brown, is working to lower the cost of senior fees for the class of 89. With continued cooperation of everyone involved each committee should be successful in reaching their goals.

Mrs. Brown and the Freshmen planning committee

Mr. Bransky and his Debate Team Club

WHO'S RIGHT & WHO'S WRONG

Developing a logical plan of attack is where each member of our debate begins when dealing with controversial topic. It is the task of Mr. Bransky, adviser, to teach the debate members the fundamentals of debating. Each member further enhances his/her skills through intramural debates and team debates with other schools.

Mr. Wagner and his Chess Club Members

WHO'S MOVE?

One of Mr. Wagner's goals was to see that each member of the Chess Club learned the fundamentals of the game. After identifying each game piece and how they move on the board, strategies were taught, learned and implemented.

In Mr. Sundy Prep 4 club the primary goal was to acquaint students with the career of engineering through competitions and field trips. Also, in Mrs. Glenn's chemistry club the goal was to promote an interest in science, especially chemistry through research projects, tutoring, competition and field trips.

Although the Bulldog Newspaper only published three issues this year, it was a fair attempt to revitalize the publication. The Business and Finance Academy also went to Seven Springs Resort. Our Concert Choir took a long bus ride to Tampa, Florida and students in the C.A.S. program (Center for Advanced Studies) went to Cancun, Mexico. Student security and sponsor, Mrs. Kyser, went to Cedar Point as a reward for working hard and keeping our halls safe and secure. The Choir Director, Mrs. Broadus, and the Concert Choir went to Tampa, Florida to participate in a music festival. They received a superior rating and first place during the competition While the bus trip took about fourteen hours, they stated that the trip was worth while and enjoyable. Mr. Burley and his students in C.A S. program flew to Cancun, Mexico to participate in an archaeological dig. This group returned with many fascinating stories about their trip. They also brought back a brass plack for our school's trophy case. FACE VALUE

If one quickly looks at the members of our graduating class, he will observe quite an ordinary group of individuals. However, when one catches these same people in action, it's an entirely different story. Among our seniors are aspiring homemakers, scientists, technicians, athletes, and craftsmen, name it, and it's represented here. By observing even closer, one will see that we are taking actions now to attain our futures; we're taking college-preparatory classes, refining our business skills, and practicing with the tools of our future trades. Our actions are paying off in personal satisfaction and sometimes community acclaim and recognition. We're much more complex than our candid senior photos make us to be. Behind those smiles on those wallet sized glossies beat hearts of pride and determination.

SENIORITY

Where as many senior classes have adopted the "Now's the time to celebrate attitude" in their graduating year, we contained our jubilation in order to insure a successful year for everyone. We included underclassmen in many of our activities; they worked with us on several of our committees and were a pertinent component of our overall success. We worked hand-in-hand with the staff to make the system work for everyone, we sat down with the administration and negotiated with them when we faced a difficulty. We made every endeavor to unite the student body with the staff. By virtue of our long and steady service, we have come to epitomize the word "seniority."

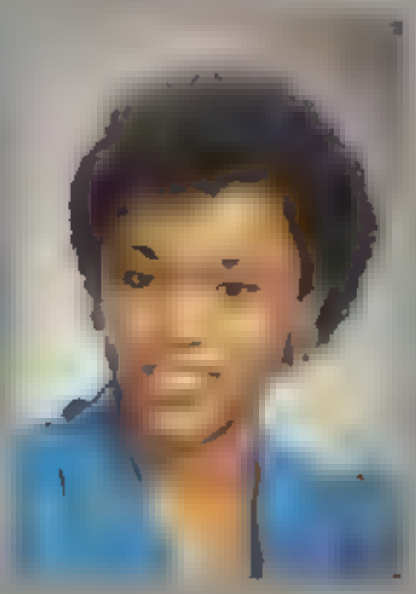
JEWEL IN THE CROWN



ACCURATELY ALIGNED

We maintained a team effort so that every member of the class could feel as if he helped in carefully constructing our graduating year. Ours was a system of careful checks and balances. We initiated a senior planning committee to help organize senior events and to relay messages from the senior class to the senior class officers. The senior class officers, in turn, distributed information for their classmates through the committee. All seniors were encouraged to vote on event locations and on committee ideas. We were also encouraged to air our beliefs concerning the class policies. This painstaking process was well worth the effort for we managed to illustrate to one and all that "slow and steady" does win the race.

SUPERIOR GRADE

The junior class has been planning many activities to help them have a successful academic year. These juniors maintained high academic grades in business, vocational, and scholar's classes. They have excelled in sports along with after school organizations. Concerned about community, they have incorporated themselves into many civic activities. This class can surely attest to the theme "superior grade"!!!

BUSINESS

Westinghouse can boast of having one of the best business education and training departments in the Pittsburgh Public School District. Instructors, such as Ms. Harper, have placed students at part time and full time positions. Other dedicated instructors Mrs. Anderson, Mr. Capone and Mrs. Weigman inspire students not only to be better but the best. On the job training takes place by being on time, dressing properly and getting straight to work. Mrs Anderson has even introduced her Business & Finance classes to theatre and the finer things in life. Also the junior class can take pride in being the first graduating class of the Business & Finance Academy.

CHILD CARE

Westinghouse not only caters to the needs of the staff and student body, but also to the community. Child care is not only the development of skills for the future, but a day care for working parents. Parents find this a blessing and our students a wonderful experience. Mrs. Smith is responsible for providing the kids with an atmosphere of laughter and kindness. She makes sure they are being taught, provide lunches, parties, and field trips.

OVERLOOKING OBSTACLES

The sophomores can boast, among other things, as being one of the largest classes in Westinghouse High School. Academic, athletic and musical achievement have not been affected by this dominance. Determination, dedication and endurance have guided them through the courses and year successfully.

"CLASS OF 89"

They have successfully completed one year of high school They have learned what is expected of them and have begun to make an effort to meet the demands of high school life

They have set many career goals for the next three years to come. Some will excel in academics or vocational areas, others will excel in athletics, while others will pursue a career of business. What ever choice is made by each student, success will truly be theirs through hard work and the willingness to achieve

While the road may be rough at times, it is indeed a time to explore all the possibilities that education can bring. Let us hope that each member of the class of 89 achieves his/her goals.

CHOOSE CAREFULLY!

There are number of groups and organizations to join at Westinghouse. Sometimes it can be difficult to choose between a club or sport. Because of the new eligibility requirements, each student must maintain a 2.0 grade point average to participate in extra curricular activities. Students are advised about not becoming involved in too many activities. Although group involvement is encouraged, it should not overtake the academic program

Students may participate in the following activities: Cheerleaders, Chess Club, Chemistry Club, Debate Team, FHA/Hero, Flag Squad, Choir, Band, Class Planning Committees, Majorettes, National Honor Society, Newspaper, Prep 4, Pomerettes, Student Council, Student Security, Yearbook, Basketball, Football, Cross Country, Golf, Swimming, Tennis, Track and Field, Softball, Baseball and Volleyball

MAKING THE GRADE

How do you pass seven courses, while participating in clubs and sports, spending time with [illegible] easy being a freshman. The demands are great and you need a plan of attack to manage the various activities you select. Set aside time for complete homework assignments, being with friends, watch-[illegible] each activity is divided based upon the time needed to complete each. Always remember and never forget the primary reason for attending school (to learn, experience, explore and discover).

LUNCH TIME...

A time to meet new people and make friends. A time to catch up on homework assignments. A time to play a board game. A time to relax. A time to eat?

Very little time is spent on contemplating on what you are going to eat. Most students select food from the lunch line or eat junk food from the vending machines. The majority of the time is spent talking with friends about the events of the day, or what their plans will be after school. It is certainly a time to enjoy the only unstructured time of the school day with people you like to be around.

ENOUGH SAID...

We've had an excellent school year, learned a great deal and look forward to next year. We wait eagerly in anticipation of what the year will bring. Our hopes are high and our goals are set. Perhaps, someone in the tenth grade will become famous and put Westinghouse on the map. What ever our class does will depend upon all of us working together to achieve common objectives. Let's see what we can do positive for our school, community and our class.
